Social Science Tower (SST) 318

SEMINAR OBJECTIVES AND OVERVIEW OF REQUIREMENTS

The cultural context of our social world organizes our beliefs, desires, and expectations, and, in turn, influences our emotions, cognitions, and behavior. At the same time, the emerging science of close relationships has compellingly shown that relationships play a central role in human life. In this seminar, we will bring these two areas of research together to explore culture influences on close relationship processes, with an emphasis on Latino populations. As part of the course, you will read and evaluate original scientific research on culture, close relationships, sources of cultural variation in relationship processes (e.g., attraction and social support), and the correlates and consequences of culture's influence on relationship types and relationship processes. Major themes of the course include: culture and close relationship theories and methods; relationship type universals and variation; national and ethnic sources of cultural variation with a focus on U.S. Latinos but extending comparisons with other U.S. ethnic minorities as well as Asian, African, and Middle Eastern societies.

The weekly seminar meeting will consist of lecture and discussion. Lectures during the first hour of class will typically cover introductory material not covered in the required readings, highlight key points from the weekly readings, or clarify complex points from the readings. After a short break, the remainder of class time will be devoted to discussion. Discussions will be student lead and all members of the class are expected to participate. To help us structure the thinking for discussion and ensure that discussion is relevant to all interests, (1) each student will be required to generate 3 questions from the weekly reading and (2) all students will take a turn leading/moderating class discussions. Student discussion leaders will use the questions generated by fellow students as the starting point for class discussion.

Maintaining an interesting and informative seminar is the joint responsibility of the instructor and students. I do my best to organize and prepare an interesting and productive learning experience. Your part of this joint responsibility is to read all material assigned for each date before coming to class and email your 3 questions to myself and the student discussion leaders by the evening before class – Monday by 8PM at the latest.

COURSE WEBPAGE

You may download the PowerPoint slides shown during the lecture portion of the class from the course website: <https://eee.uci.edu/09f/61345>. The website is only available to enrolled students and the password is “culrel.” The slides will be available to download by 8:00 AM of the morning of each class. Please note that this syllabus is available on the class website. Required readings, syllabus revisions, announcements, handouts, and other materials will be posted on the website. You are responsible for checking the website periodically for updated information.

REQUIRED READINGS

Text: Miller, R. S., Perlman, D., & Brehm, S. S. (2009). Intimate relationships (5th ed.). New York: McGraw-Hill.

Required Articles: Copies of all required articles can be downloaded via the class website and most can also be downloaded in PDF form via PsychINFO.

GRADING

Grading will be based on class attendance, weekly questions, discussion participation, and a 10-15 page APA-style final paper of an original study that you would like to carry out on a topic of relevance to culture and close relationships.

Class Attendance (10%): Attendance is required. Class attendance is an important part of your learning, and therefore, your grade. Throughout the course, you should be developing your ability to compare and contrast different theoretical perspectives; to recognize when patterns of evidence support or challenge theoretical propositions; to identify methodological problems in research studies; think critically about how to address existing limitations and new research questions with future studies; and consider how research findings might be applied to the problems of everyday life. Attending class and actively participating in discussion will help you develop these abilities. There will be no way to make up for missed class meetings.

Weekly Questions (20%): Generating 3 questions each week from the assigned reading material is required. This assignment will help you to think critically as you complete the assigned readings and serve as your prepared contribution to subsequent class discussion. To obtain credit for completing this class requirement, you need to email your 3 questions to myself and the student discussion leaders by the morning before class – Monday by 8PM at the latest. There will be no way to make up for missed weekly questions. Late questions can be used for class discussion at the discretion of the discussion leader, but late questions will receive zero credit.

Discussion Participation (20%): You are encouraged to ask questions, make comments, and generally participate in discussion. Each student is also required to lead one class discussion throughout the quarter. As a discussion leader, you will: 1) use email to collect the questions raised by your classmates for that week’s reading, 2) synthesize the questions into topical themes and issues, and 3) lead/moderate discussion during class.

Discussion is a large portion of the class and it is imperative that everyone show courtesy toward fellow classmates at all times. Do not interrupt others and seek to handle disagreements in a respectful manner. On a more general note, all students are expected to conduct themselves during the class in a manner that does not interfere with the educational experience of other students in the course. That means arriving for class on time and turning off cellular phones, pagers, and other electronic devices that might disrupt class discussion. Your cooperation is greatly appreciated.

Final Paper Assignment (50%): For the final paper assignment, you will use the topics, theories, methods, and research findings introduced in the course to develop your own research question and design a study that tests the research question of interest. This research question and study design will be reported in a 10-15 page final paper that is due on Friday, December 11 by 5PM at the latest. This final paper will be an APA-style research report (no longer than 10-pages of double-spaced text, 12-point font, 1 inch margins – plus title page, abstract, and reference page) that describes your research question, reviews the relevant literature, describes your proposed study design, and presents and discusses your hypothetical results. The paper is worth a total of 50 points (50% of your course grade).

A hard copy of the paper must be turned in to Dr. Campos in person or in her mailbox by FRIDAY, DECEMBER 11, 5PM AT THE LATEST. Papers submitted electronically will not be accepted. Please note that after 5PM the 3151 SSPA mailroom is closed and locked for the weekend and I will no longer be in my office. In fact, I would advise you to save yourself the stress and turn the paper in before 4PM because staff occasionally closes the mailroom early and locks it after they leave. Late papers will not be accepted and will be assigned a grade of zero.

Guidelines for the paper will be passed out during class. I also encourage you to come to office hours to discuss your ideas and developing paper. However, I do not look at drafts because it is not fair to the whole class if I evaluate a draft of some papers but not others. I also want to note that this is not a writing course, and I do not provide basic writing instruction. If you are concerned about your writing or complying with APA-style, please contact The Learning and Academic Resource Center to take advantage of their writing workshops and other forms of assistance. Their website is: <http://www.larc.uci.edu/>

Summary of Grading:

Maximum points for attendance, weekly questions, class discussion, and final paper

Class Attendance	10
Weekly Questions	20
Class Discussion	20
Final Paper	50
Total	100

CLASS POLICIES

People generally think I'm a warm and approachable person. And generally, this is true. But I also need to keep the class on track and to run a fair and democratic classroom. Therefore, I have to set some class policies upfront.

Enrollment, Add/Drop and Incompletes: Students are responsible for their own enrollment status. This includes checking your status, filing appropriate paperwork, and paying appropriate fees.

Enrollment in this course is regulated by the University WebReg system, which is accessible at: <http://www.reg.uci.edu/registrar/soc/webreg.html>. For this class, the system allows students to add/drop or join a computerized waitlist for the course during the first two weeks of class. If you are not currently enrolled but wish to be, it is your responsibility monitor your status and adjust it as the opportunity arises.

If you wish to drop the course, it is your responsibility to go through the proper procedures to ensure that you are dropped from the course. Be aware that there are deadlines for dropping the course without penalty. If you drop the course after the deadline, you will need the Dean's signature and you will receive a "W" on your transcript.

Incompletes will not be given in this course except under extremely rare circumstances that require documentation and adherence to University policies.

Grading Policy: Final grades will be computed by a fair and reasonable curve to be determined at the end of the quarter. As per University policy, course grades are final (i.e. non-negotiable and can be made only to correct for clerical errors). If you have reason to challenge a grade you receive on an individual assignment, you must state your case in writing and submit your argument to the course instructor by the next class following return of the graded assignment. Only reasonable and well-justified arguments will be considered, and my decision will be final. Please note that re-grades can result in a lower score if I determine that there was an error in your favor during the first round of grading (so please be certain that your argument is just and will benefit you).

Late Assignments: No late assignments will be accepted. Assignments turned in after the due date will receive a zero. This policy is set up so that no one falls behind. To enforce this rule fairly, there can be no exceptions (except for extenuating circumstances of a catastrophic nature and even then, you must be extremely persuasive). So, please turn in your assignments on time. I've made an effort to clearly note due dates in the class syllabus. Take note of these dates and plan accordingly.

Contacting the Professor: Dr. Campos' office is on the 3rd floor of the Social Science Tower building. Please feel free to drop in at office hours or make an appointment. Email is the most effective way to contact me. To ensure that your email message is read promptly and is not filtered, please put the course name and/or number in the subject line of your message. You can generally expect to receive responses to your email inquiries within 24 hours during the week, and 48 hours on the weekend.

Being Contacted by the Professor: You must have an active UCI email account to participate in this course. I use email to make announcements about the course as well as to correspond with you individually. I will reply to emails from non-UCI accounts, but course announcements made over email will be sent to your UCI email address, so please check this account regularly.

Class Etiquette: Please be courteous to others and arrive to class on time. Late arrivals, early departures, cell phones, beepers, and “quiet conversations” are distracting and noticeable throughout the classroom. Students must turn off cellular phones and pagers during class as well as any other electronic device (e.g., palm pilot) that may ring or otherwise disrupt class.

Course Evaluations: Course evaluations are an important factor in evaluating instructor effectiveness and making decisions about future course offerings. Please plan on taking the time to complete an evaluation for this course at the end of the quarter. For Fall Quarter, class evaluations will be available on the EEE system from Sunday, Nov. 22 through Sunday, Dec. 6.

Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: I make every effort to accommodate the needs of students with disabilities. If you have a documented disability that requires assistance, you will need to go to the Disability Services Center (DSC) for coordination of your academic accommodations. The DSC phone number is 949.824.7494 /TDD 949.924.6272 or you can visit their website at www.disability.uci.edu. For a detailed description of DSC policies and procedures, please visit:

http://www.disability.uci.edu/policies_procedures/testing_accomodations.pdf.

Please notify me as soon as possible if you plan to use these services so I can ensure that appropriate accommodations are made.

Extra Credit: There is no extra credit in this class.

Cheating: Any student who cheats on the final paper will be given an F in the course and will not be permitted to withdraw. The UCI academic code defines cheating and provides a summary of further disciplinary actions that may be taken as a consequence of cheating. The academic code is published in the undergraduate course catalogue and is available online at: http://www.senate.uci.edu/senateweb/9_IrvineManual/3ASMAppendices/Appendix08.html. The code outlines proscribed conduct with regard to cheating and plagiarism.

In addition, students agree that by taking this course all papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to Turnitin.com for the detection of plagiarism. All submitted papers will be included as source documents in the Turnitin.com reference database solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of such papers. Use of the Turnitin.com service is subject to the Usage Policy agreement posted on the Turnitin.com website.
